Abstract

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE A foldable headband including a central part having two ends and headband shanks having curved ear pieces. The headband may also include a hinge that swingably couples each of the headband shanks to the central part and each of the two curved earpieces, similar to eyeglasses. The headband is providing the wearer's hair to be held in a desired position away from the face. The curved earpieces allow comfort for extended periods of use. The shape allows any hair type to be styled around headband.
